wyoming

Since its founding in 1996, Dubbe-Moulder Architects has offered services in residential, commercial and interior design, as well as in land planning and historic preservation. The firm is known for its quality design within a western environment and is particularly attentive to historical context, natural features and indigenous materials. Through a respect for the integrity and character of a region and site, the designers are able to unify structure and location to create beautiful and timeless compositions that connect people to place. Drawing inspiration from the Rocky Mountain-region landscape, Dubbe-Moulder Architects is dedicated to achieving the client's goal while taking the client's lifestyle into account. Each DMA project is executed with the understanding that refined architecture has always been complemented by excellent craftsmanship.

Like the water it is perched near, the home is set aglow by the evening sun reflecting upon its wood exterior.

WARM GLOW

MAKE THE GRADE

The home takes advantage of the unique sloping grade of the property, as it seems to amble down the hill.

THE USE OF SEVERAL SMALL WINDOWS CLUSTERED GEOMETRICALLY ACCENTUATES THE DRAMATIC ANGLE OF THE ROOF.

THE FLOOR-TO-CEILING WINDOWS BRING THE PINE FOREST INDOORS.

EACH PIECE OF WINTER-DAMAGED LODGEPOLE PINE WAS HAND SELECTED TO CREATE THE DESIRED LOOK.

This room's rustic contemporary theme is prevalent throughout the design of the home.

ALL-SEASON RETREAT

All exterior fireplace lends architectural interest and warmth to an elevated patio, bringing living room comfort outdoors.

STONE AND WOOD MATERIALS IN THE KITCHEN AND BREAKFAST AREA ARE REFLECTIVE OF THE OUTDOORS.

RAW TIMBER, SOFT LIGHTING AND BRICK CHIMNEYS ADD A FANCIFUL TOUCH TO THE HOME'S FACADE
